Forgotten no more: Victoria Cross display

Steven Fouchard Army Public Affairs

Private Michael James O'Rourke, V.C.

The Victoria Cross, the British Commonwealth's (formerly the British Empire's) highest military honour for bravery in battle, was created by Queen Victoria in 1856. During the First World War, 73 Canadians were awarded Victoria Crosses Six went to men who demonstrated uncommon valour at the Battle of Hill 70. a significant Canadian victory. The Canadian War Museum collection currently holds 39 of the 99 Victoria Crosses awarded to Canadians, of which 33 are from the First World War

The Canadian War Museum (CWM) has acquired the complete set of Victoria Cross honours awarded to six Canadians for their bravery at the Battle of Hill 70 in August 1917, shining a spotlight on what has long been considered a forgotten chapter of the First World War.

The medals are now on display in the CWM's Royal Canadian Legion Hall of Honour following an unveiling ceremony held on March 26, 2019.

"The capture of Hill 70 was one of the hardest-fought victories for Canada during the First World War. We are proud to commemorate that victory by giving these medals a special place at the War Museum," said Mark O'Neill, President and Chief Executive Officer of the CWM and the Canadian Museum of History, in a press release. "Together, these medals tell a story of extraordinary collective achievement, through six Canadians of different ranks and backgrounds who showed great courage and leadership when it counted most."

At the event, O'Neill noted the museum now has 39 of the 99 Victoria Crosses awarded to Canadians in total, calling them nothing less than "national treasures."

"The impact of having all six Hill 70 medal sets on display together is considerable," he added. "[It attests] both to the intensity of the battle and the outstanding courage of Canadian soldiers."

Colonel Mark Hutchings, a 27-year veteran of the Canadian Army and former Honorary Colonel of The Princess of Wales' Own Regiment, also spoke at the unveiling.

As chair of the Hill 70 Monument Project, a driving force behind the Hill 70 Monument in Lens, France, that was opened to the public in 2017, he thanked the CWM for creating "a nexus in Canada for future generations to find out more about their country and about Hill 70."

Col Hutchings joked that all the attention now on Hill 70 may serve to invalidate the title of Capturing Hill 70: Canada's Forgotten Battle of the First World War, a book published in 2016 as part of the Monument Project's educational program, but welcomed the change in public awareness.

"One thousand, eight hundred seventyseven Canadians died at Hill 70 and the fact that there was no monument there to commemorate them was unconscionable. [The monument] is a beautiful thing, People are travelling from all over the world to see it. Not just Canada but from England, Australia, New Zealand, Germany. The town of Lens is really delighted that they are now on the tourist map."

The medals making up the Hill 70 set are on loan from a number of sources, including the Governor General's Foot Guards (GGFG) Regimental Museum in Ottawa and the British Columbia Regiment (Duke of Connaught's Own) Museum Society in Vancouver.

Estelle Lane, co-curator of the GGFG Museum, said she is pleased the Victoria Cross of Acting Major Okill Massey Learmonth will have a wider audience at the CWM.

"At first I was a little sad about seeing it go," she said. "But here a lot of people will be able to see it and appreciate the sacrifice."

The Battle of Hill 70 took place between Aug. 15 and 25, 1917, and was the first major action by the Canadian Corps under the direction of a Canadian officer: Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Currie.

More than 9,000 Canadians were killed, wounded or designated as missing after the battle to capture Hill 70, which overlooked German-occupied Lens.

Sergeant Frederick Hobson

Sgt Hobson was killed after digging out a machine gun position that had been buried as a result of a nearby artillery impact. He turned it on the advancing enemy. When the weapon jammed, he left a comrade to clear it, charging at the enemy and holding them back using only his rifle as a club and his bayonet until he was felled.

Corporal Filip Konowal

Cpl Konowal single-handedly attacked and destroyed two enemy machine gun emplacements on two separate days and is credited with killing at least 16 enemy troops before being severely wounded.

Private Harry Brown

When communications were lost in a German counterattack. Ptc Brown, who had a severely wounded arm, made his way successfully through intense enemy fire to deliver a critical message to headquarters. He died a few hours later.

Private Michael James O'Rourke

Pte O'Rourke was a stretcher bearer who jumped out of a trench into enemy fire to assist wounded comrades, including one who had been blinded. His Victoria Cross citation notes that, "He showed throughout an absolute disregard for his own safety, going wherever there were wounded to succour..."

Acting Major Okill Massey Learmonth

Maj Learmonth is credited with "most conspicuous bravery and exceptional devotion to duty" under heavy fire. He reputedly caught and tossed back a number of enemy grenades and refused to be carried out of the battle after being wounded. He continued to give instructions and advice. He was eventually carried to hospital where he succumbed to his wounds.

Sergeant-Major Robert Hill Hanna

Sgt-Maj Hanna is credited with "courageous action" for leading an attack on a German position protected by a machine gun. His citation includes credit "for the capture of a most important tactical point, and but for his daring action and determined handling of a desperate situation, the attack would not have succeeded."

The Canadian War Museum is Canada's national museum of military history. Its mission is to promote public understanding of Canada's military history in its personal, national and international dimensions. Work of the Canadian War Museum is made possible in part through financial support of the Government of Canada.

HOLOCAUST MEMORIAL DAY BC PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS, VICTORIA 02 MAY 2019

Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel Rohani attended the BC Legislature for the Yom Ha'Shoah Remembrance event - the Holocaust Memorial Day, where some of the Holocaust survivors recounted their personal stories in a ceremony at the BC Parliament Buildings.

At Yom Ha'Shoah, many people around the world honour and remember the six million lives lost during the Holocaust.

Premier John Horgan in his speech stressed that "We must do more than promise 'never again,' but share and learn from the stories of the survivors and stand together, every day, against anti-Semitism, bigotry and hate."

The ceremony included the lighting of seven candles. Six of them were for the six million Jews who were murdered during the Holocaust and the seventh was to remember others targeted by the Nazis, including Roma people, people of diverse backgrounds and those with disabilities.

Rob Fleming, Minister of Education, gave a very moving speech "with fewer Holocaust survivors alive today, it's particularly important that education ensures future generations learn the lessons of this tragedy, including the dangers of what happens when you're apathetic in the face of racism or oppression." He continued "with anti-Semitism and hate speech on the rise, we want to make sure all kids know how to stand up for human rights, so we can protect our values of tolerance and inclusiveness."

Yom Ha'Shoah is an important opportunity to pause and honour the millions of lives that were destroyed and to reflect on the evil that inspired this unprecedented act of murderous hatred.

It was acknowledged by the opposition MLA Michael Lee that Canada remains one of the best places in the world in which to be Jewish, but it does not mean we can be complacent about anti-Semitic hatred and intolerance, which persists and threatens to undermine all we value in Canada.

Premier Horgan and Fleming were joined by many other MLA's for the ceremony by representatives from the Centre for Israel and Jewish Affairs, Pacific Region; the Jewish Federation of Vancouver; Jewish Federation of Victoria and Vancouver Island; Vancouver Holocaust Education Centre; Victoria Holocaust Remembrance and Education Society; and the Victoria Shoah Project, as well as more than 25 Holocaust survivors.

Included in the audience was George Pal, a holocaust survivor and prisoner who appeared in his striped hat that he had to wear as a prisoner in Auschwitz, one of the camps where he was a prisoner.

It was great to also have Retired General Ed Fitch at the ceremony and representatives of the Canada Israel Jewish Federation Vancouver Director (Nico Slobinsky).

REMEMBRANCE DAY (KINGDOM OF THE NETHERLANDS) NATIONALE DODENHERDENKING THE DRILL HALL 4 May 2019

Honorary Colonel Ted Hawthorne and Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel Farid Rohani joined Consul General, Mr. Henk Snoeken, and Ms. Barry Nieuwenhuijs, Deputy Consul General, at the Kingdom of Netherlands Remembrance Day which was held at the Drill Hall in the afternoon of May 4, 2019.

May 4th is the Dutch national commemoration of Remembrance Day, when all Dutch victims – civilians and soldiers – who were killed or murdered in the Kingdom of the Netherlands or anywhere else in the world in war situations or during peacekeeping operations, since the outbreak of the Second World War, are remembered.

Consul General Snoeken, in his remarks, remembered the role Canada played in the liberation of the Netherlands, paid his respects to Canadian victims, and noted the strong ties that exist between our countries.

Colonel Rohani delivered the BCR speech and remembered the 7,600 volunteer Canadians killed during the Liberation of Holland, that lie buried in Bergen-Op-Zoom, Holten and Adegem Commonwealth War Grave Cemeteries.

"They Gave Their Lives in The Liberation of The Netherlands To Ensure the Preservation of Freedom, Being Denied A Future to Grow Old Peacefully After Serving Their Country and Society."

Colonel Rohani, in his remarks, noted that we must also remember and mourn the millions of lives lost to Nazi persecution and terror... and to remember the... mothers... fathers... children... brothers and sisters who were killed... as well as remembering the lives of the 102,000 Jews in the Netherlands who did not survive the Holocaust. We must always remember them!

Colonel Rohani thanked those present including Colonel Hawthorne, the President of The British Columbia Veterans Commemorative Association, Retired Lieutenant-Colonel Archie Steacy, and members of the public and guests that were present.

Wreaths were placed by Colonel Hawthorne, Consul General Snoeken and Archie Steacy. Beautiful renditions of the National Anthems of both countries, an amazing youth choir and a reception closed the well-attended event.

CELEBRATING 100 YEARS WITH MAJOR (RET'D) MARIAN SŁOWINSKI

By Major Michael Bernardo, DCDA Poland

"We will be there for your 100th Birthday Pan (Mr.) Marian!" ...and true to their word, they came! On the 8th of May 2019, Major (Ret'd) Marian Słowinski, a former crew member of a Sherman Tank, who fought in the Battle of the Falaise Pocket as part of the Polish 1st Armoured Division, alongside Canadian soldiers of II Canadian Corps in WWII, achieved an amazing milestone and became a Centenarian. Honouring a commitment to a special friend, veteran and brother-in-arms, current and former Canadian Defence Attaché's to Poland; Colonel (Ret'd) Jim Petryk, Colonel (Ret'd) Daniel Geleyn and Colonel Pascal Demers arrived in Warsaw to join Captain (N) Ivan Allain and the rest of the CDAO Poland team, to participate in 100th Birthday celebrations.

Major (Ret'd) Marian Slowinski

Col Ret'd Daniel Geleyn, Col Pascal Demers, Col Ret'd Jim Petryk, Major Ret'd Marian Slowinksi, Capt (N) Ivan Allain, Major Mike Bernardo, Sgt Julie Masse and Mr. Krzysztof Kopec (in front of the Two Rocks Monument)

Events kicked off on 8 May, at the Polish Military Cathedral in Warsaw, with a mass followed by a reception led by Lieutenant-General Jaroslaw Mika, Commander of General Command, an armoured officer and friend of Maj Słowinski. Captain (N) Ivan Allain and Canadian Ambassador Leslie Scanlon both paid tribute to Pan Marian at this event, that was attended by numerous Polish and International VIPs, including the Ambassador from the Netherlands and the Mayor of the Dutch town (Breda) that Pan Marian helped liberate 75 years ago.

Closer to our hearts, Pan Marian worked at the Canadian Embassy in Poland for more than 25 years and is a long-time friend to many former and current members of the CDAO and staff at the embassy. As a further tribute to this great veteran, we gathered once again on 9 May, for a second but much more personal celebration at the Canadian Embassy in Warsaw, which Pan Marian refers to as his second home. Ambassador Leslie Scanlon paid tribute by presenting a letter of congratulations signed by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Right Honourable Chrystia Freeland commemorating Pan Marian's 100th birthday and many years of service to Canada. Captain (N) Allain then assumed the mantel, on behalf of the gathered CDA alumni, members of the embassy and special guests to present Pan Marian with congratulatory letters from Her Excellency the Governor General of Canada, Julie Payette, Minister of National Defence, the Right Honourable Harjit Sajjan and Chief of Defence Staff, General Jonathan Vance. Defence Minister Sajjan, who previously met Pan Marian, when he was in Poland for the Warsaw NATO Summit in 2016, also provided a signed photo of the two of them together as well as his personal MND coin. The honours and tributes did not stop there. Also at the initiative of the MND, a former army reservist and former CO of the British Columbia Regiment, the current CO, Lieutenant-Colonel Paul Lindsay provided a letter, which was appropriately read at the ceremony by fellow armoured officer and former CO of LdSH (RC) as well as current CDA Jordan, Colonel Pascal Demers. It reads:

Major Marion Slowinski, On behalf of all ranks of The British Columbia Regiment (Duke of Connaught's Own), 4th Canadian Armoured Division during World War II, Express our Most Sincere Best Wishes on the Occasion of Your 100th Birthday, 8 May 2019.

"MACZUGA"

Mount Ormel, Normandy 1st Polish Armoured Division, 2nd Canadian Corps Closing the Falaise Gap 19-21 August 1944 During the Battle for Normandy, France

21 April 2019

Lieutenant-Colonel Paul A. Lindsay, CD Commanding Officer

The following summary of Pan Marian's fascinating story was written by Captain Ryan Lee, LdSH (RC), LO to the Polish Armed Forces General Command, during his deployment to Poland as part of Op REASSURANCE in 2017 on the occasion of Pan Marian's 98th Birthday:

Pan Marian loves to tell people whom he meets that, "Canada has saved me twice." This statement is almost always followed by a description of both instances. The first time he was saved by Canadians was during World War II in 1944 during the Falaise Pocket. Pan Marian, at the time Sergeant Marian, was a member of the 1st Polish Armoured Division attached to the 1st Canadian Army during the invasion of Occupied France, and fought alongside Canadians during Operations TOTALIZE and TRACTABLE.

The speed of the Allied advance into France had caught the German Wehrmacht off guard and by 19 August 1944 the Allies had managed to have 3 German Armies nearly encircled. The 1st Polish Armoured Division, attached to II Canadian Corps, was tasked to perform the final manoeuvres and complete the encirclement. The Polish units occupied their positions, on and near the famous Hill 262, and fought against relentless German counterattacks. The Polish armour successfully repulsed the attacks but incurred heavy losses and depleted nearly all of their ammunition. Finally, on the afternoon of 21 August, after brutal fighting at very close quarters during the morning, the first Canadian units from the 4th Canadian Armoured Division began to link-up with the battered 1st Polish Armoured Division elements. By the evening of the 21st the link-up was complete and the area was secured.

The second time Pan Marian was saved by Canadians was slightly less dramatic but considerably more long term. Following the ceasefire, and eventual end of the War in Europe, Pan Marian returned to Poland. Poland had changed considerably during his absence and was now under the control of an interim government that was essentially controlled by the Soviet Union. Many of the returning soldiers who had fought alongside Allied units in the West were persecuted by the Communist Regime and finding a steady job was almost impossible. Pan Marian, unable to find a job anywhere else, came to the Canadian Embassy in Warsaw to seek employment. He was subsequently hired and worked in the embassy until his retirement in 1984.

Pan Marian is a fixture at the Canadian Embassy in Warsaw; a place he refers to as "his second home." He organized the "Two Rocks Monument" which resides in front of the Embassy and was unveiled in 1999. Erected to commemorate the soldiers who fought together in World War II, the monument consists of a rock from both Canada and Poland symbolising the brotherhood of arms between Polish and Canadian soldiers.

Spending time at Pan Marian's birthday was a great opportunity; meeting with WWII veterans is becoming more and more difficult. Pan Marian is a strong reminder of the bonds between Poland and Canada, bonds many of us may not even be aware of. These relationships have continued to stay strong in the 21st century. Canada was the first nation to provide soldiers in a stand of solidarity with Poland against the actions of Russia further to the East, 4 years ago during the Crimean Crisis. Although this is our final year in Poland, Canadian soldiers will continue to serve beside our Polish allies in Latvia as part of NATO's Enhanced Forward Presence. Canada's participation in Eastern Europe with NATO is a very important undertaking and will ensure that the relationship between Canada and Poland, among others, remains strong for many years to come.

EX: MAPLE RESOLVE 2019 VISIT CANADIAN MANOEUVRE TRAINING CENTRE ("CMTC") WAINWRIGHT, ALBERTA 14 May 2019

The Honoraries of 3 Canadian Division ("The Army of the West") were most pleased to be included in the visit to Ex: Maple Resolve along with Canadian Forces Liaison Council ("CFLC") Executrek participants. Both Honoraries of the Regiment participated in the event. The tour started with a flight aboard a RCAF C 130-J "Hercules" from Edmonton International Airport to Wainwright where the visitors were bussed to CMTC to attend to various briefings in the Theatre. The highlight of the morning was, without a doubt, the address by Brigadier-General Trevor Cadieu, Commander of 3 Canadian Division and Joint Task Force West, which focused on the objectives of the training and the complexities of numerous scenarios being faced by our soldiers. The briefings provided context and detail of the "high readiness immersive force-onforce training" to be given to 1 Canadian Mechanized Brigade Group during the term of the Exercise, 11 to 25 May 2019, as "the culminating exercise on the Road to High Readiness." The combined operation consisted of over 5,000 soldiers participating with soldiers from the USA, UK, France and Australia. The afternoon part of the program included a visit to various camps, Insurgent and Opposing Forces, complete with IMP Lunch, and simulations of various scenarios (ambush, insurgent action and enemy soldiers' activities). Upon returning to the Wainwright Airport, guests were treated to a tour of specially fitted state of the art Blackhawk Medevacs provided by the Oregon Air National Guard who provided support to the exercise.

Our many thanks to the Deputy Commander of 3 Canadian Division, Brigadier-General David Awalt, Colonel Nigel Whittaker, Assistant Chief of Staff Support (3 Div) and Division Reserve Sergeant Major, CWO Daniel Sembalerus, for their excellent support and assistance during the tour.

The Honourable Janet Austin, OBC, Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, was the keynote speaker at the 22nd annual luncheon celebrating the Order of Canada and the Order of British Columbia recipients at the Terminal City Club in Vancouver. The program for the very well attended event included Opening Remarks by the Master of Ceremonies, Stephen Quinn, CBC, O Canada in both official languages by the Henry Hudson Elementary Intermediate Choir, Head Table Introductions, Welcome Remarks by President Raymond Greenwood, the Keynote Address by Her Honour, an excellent lunch, the Loyal Toast by Robert Watt, Co-Chair, Presentations to recent Order of Canada and Order of BC recipients, a Special Presentation by Christopher Gaze, OBC and Closing Remarks by President Greenwood.

CO'S PARADE (STAND DOWN) THE DRILL HALL 15 May 2019

The Commanding Officer of the Regiment, Lieutenant-Colonel Paul Lindsay, took command of the parade at precisely 2130hrs and duly noted that "Stand Down" no longer has the meaning it once did as the unit must now maintain the pace without formal parades until the Stand To Parade in September. The Regiment was well turned out, considering the number of members absent due to attendance at the 3 Canadian Division high readiness immersive force-on-force training Ex: Maple Resolve at the Canadian Manoeuvre Training Centre in Wainwright and many other taskings. The CO then invited the BCR Honoraries to address the soldiers. Honorary Colonel Ted Hawthorne conveyed the greetings of Gayle Hawthorne, President of the Regimental Association, who remains in hospital. Colonel Hawthorne recognized the great work of the Regimental Association and its Charitable Trust for the serving members, cadets, veterans and the community. Colonel Hawthorne concluded by wishing everyone an enjoyable and safe summer and noted that he would be visiting each mess at the conclusion of the parade in order to recognize the happy arrival of their (Gayle and Ted) first great grandson Emmett Reid McLaughlin who was born on 4 May 2019 by ringing the bell and buying a round.

Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel Farid Rohani also addressed the soldiers and complimented them on their fine service and commitment and offered his assistance should they require same.

The CO delivered his closing remarks, thanked the Honoraries for their exemplary service to the Regiment and reminded the soldiers of a number of unit requirements on the Regimental Calendar for the summer.

2781 BCR (DCO) (POWELL RIVER) RCACC ANNUAL CEREMONIAL REVIEW 1-2 June 2019

Major (Retired) Roger W. Prouse, CD

On the weekend of 1-2 June, I had the pleasure of attending the Annual Mess Dinner and Ceremonial Review (ACR) for our BCR Powell River Cadet Corps. The Mess Dinner was held on Saturday June 1st. The male Cadets were well turned out in their Cadet uniforms with the females in very nice evening dresses and gowns. Head table guests included Mrs. Louise Prouse Director Army Cadet League of Canada (BC), A/Mayor Ms. Cindy Elliott City of Powell River, Lt Caroline Visser CO 2781, Lt(N) Al Walker past CO 2381 and MCpl Duke A. Bear. Of course, Duke stole the show and was a huge hit with the Cadets and the invited guests.

The 2781 BCR Cadets are a small Corps when compared with our four other affiliated Cadet Corps. However, what they may lack in numbers, they more than make it up for it in spirit. They are very proud of their affiliation with our Regiment and represent us extremely well in the community of Powell River.

On Sunday 2 June, I was very honoured to be the Reviewing Officer. I brought greetings from the Regiment and complimented them on their standard of drill, turnout, and deportment. It was my pleasure to present a cheque in the amount of $1500.00 from the BCRA to the CO Lt Caroline Visser and the Chair of the Support Committee Mr. Brian Sheldon. Following the parade there was a drill team demonstration and the guests were invited to visit their very well-done static displays. Refreshments were provided to all guests and Cadets following the Annual Ceremonial Review.

Congratulations to Lt Visser, Officers, Cadets and Support Committee for organizing a very enjoyable Mess Dinner and Annual Ceremonial Review.

THE BARRETT BUNKER September 2019

Late August and September in the late 1970's and early 1980's were important years for the BC Regiment. We were perpetual winners of the Dunwoody Trophy for best Armoured Reserve unit in the West and had won the Worthington Trophy in 1983 and 1985 for Best in Canada. Our numbers were close to 300 soldiers, and we conducted ten training activities each year, not including the Annual MILCON in Fort Lewis, Washington the last two weeks of August. In those Milcons, the LDSH lent us two seven car troops (14) of Lynx Armoured Recce Tracked Vehicles, and we had an additional troop of seven cars driving the 1966 pattern

OC A SQN BCR - MAJOR JACK DRAKE - YAKIMA 1978

Jeeps, and were supported by the SYEP course as an Assault Troop in three Tracked M113s driven by American Drivers. We usually had two CPs and a complete echelon of vehicles including a tracked Maintenance Det. from our Strathcona friends. We weren't paid much in those days, but we trained hard.

In 1978 and 1982 in the Fall we provided the enemy force for the 5th Air Cavalry operating out of Yakima. I was a newly minted Second-Lieutenant at the time having been recently promoted from trooper. 2Lt Joe Seymour had led a crew of BCRs up to Kelowna, where we borrowed twelve of the BCDs SMPs and tried to get them down to Vancouver to augment our numbers. Six broke down along the way. After all they were all close to twenty years old at the time with great mileage. Another five broke down before were able to get into out assembly area at the top of Yakima Ridge. I was in the back seat of the only BCD Jeep to make it up the hill. Suddenly, I found myself, along with Sgt Keith Macdonald, in charge of a dismounted patrol of BCRs and ordered out to go cross country and to try to penetrate into the rear areas of the 5th Air Cavalry. After ambushing and shooting up an American Recce patrol in the middle of the night, at first light we captured a Field Hospital and a dispatch rider from their brigade HQ with a complete battle map. Sgt Macdonald and one of our drivers took advantage of having the American Jeep and drove up the hill and took out the Brigade Headquarters. On their return, we were picked up by American Hueys and flew back at "nap-of-the earth" with our prized map, which we handed off to our side. A job well done.

Sadly, both Sgt's Harder and Houghton had been injured in a night collision, with Sgt Houghton suffering life threatening injuries. Fortunately, Maj Drake was able to call in the NODUFF and Sgt Houghton was flown by Chopper to hospital where he was saved. Sgt Harder recovered from two broken arms.

Also, not well known is the fact that from 1975 until 1984, the BCR had an annual tasking to provide an Umpire Unit to augment the NATO umpires for the Annual Fall EXs. Many of our Reserve soldiers participated over the years in these exercises as Umpires for RCD Recce and as part of the 4 CMBG Umpire team. I was fortunate to be a last minute addition to the team for 1984 and we departed from Vancouver in late August and were in Germany for about one month. We participated in two major exercises, EX SOLAR PASSAGE, a build up exercise with 4 CMBG going up against a West German Mountain Battalion, and then later in a Corps level exercise with 4 CMBG and a German Mountain Brigade against a West German Armoured Corps. These were at that time the largest exercises Canadian Troops were in since Korea. Most of us were returned to Canada following the operations and aside from a certificate and a few photos, we have no recognition of our service there. I kept a diary of my experiences and will share that with my readers on another occasion.

We will close with a bit of historical information. Following the decimation of the 28th Armoured Regiment (BCR) at Operation Totalize taking on the 12th SS Panzer division, the Regiment was reconstituted with replacements and re-entered battle shortly afterwards as a Squadron and was one of the last units in location to close the Falaise Gap.

A PRE-WAR SKETCH OF THE MILITIA OF VANCOUVER

by T.O Townley Organizer and first Lieutenant-Colonel commanding the 2nd Battalion, 5th Regiment Canadian Artillery

Editors Note: Thomas Owen Townley, 1862-1935 was not only the first CO of 2^{nd} Bn, 5th Regiment, CA, he was also the eighth mayor of Vancouver, serving in that role from 1900-1902. Besides raising Vancouver's militia, he was, while serving as mayor, largely responsible for the Drill Hall being constructed on Beatty Street. His memoir also gives us a valuable firsthand account of the various activities of the regiment during its early years – and perspective on why the 5th Regiment, CA was split into two (an Island and Mainland) battalions. This transcript was made from an original letter from Townley to Major JS Mathews. Mathews, formerly of the 6DCOR and the founder of the Vancouver Archives, had for many years endeavoured to secure Townley's memoir due to his prominent role in Vancouver's militia. Mathews was eventually successful and in the early 1930s, shortly before his death, Townley finally relented and wrote this brief memoir. Their many notes and letters to each other reflect our first CO's great pride in Vancouver's early militia. But after the Great War Townley does not appear to have maintained a relationship with the regiment or the military in general. Some indication why may be found in some passages in which Townley refers to the tremendous loss of life during the Great War and in particular the tragic death of Townley's eldest son Max, who fell at Vimy Ridge while serving with the 72nd (Seaforth) Bn.

Townley's penmanship was not the easiest to read; where necessary ellipses have been inserted where his writing was indecipherable. Mathews was never afraid to correct someone when he felt they were wrong or add to their narrative for clarification. Mathews' corrections or additions to the narrative have been retained in brackets, or I have included them in footnotes. The original memoir, along with numerous letters from Townley and his widow to Mathews, are preserved in a leather-bound book in the City Archives.

DH Snow, Sgt.

"In those days everybody was young, everybody was filled with the joy of living, and the future was a golden pathway to hopes fulfilled... Vancouver was a city of destiny..." Lieutenant-Colonel T.O. Townley.

In the year 1889 when I became associated with the militia there were in British Columbia a few independent companies of rifles, and the British Columbia Brigade of Garrison Artillery with headquarters in Victoria under the command of Lieutenant Colonel, the Honourable EG Prior, MP. It consisted of 4 batteries, each of 40 gunners, 2 non-commissioned officers a captain and 2 lieutenants and the usual staff officers. No. 1 Battery was in New Westminster and was the successor of the old Seymour Artillery which was organized to resist the threatened Fenian raid in the late 60s. Batteries 2, 3, and 4 were located in Victoria.

A vacancy in the command of No.1 battery having occurred by reason of the death of Captain McNaughten I was waited upon sometime in the year 1884 by Lieutenant Colonel Holmes DAG of MD No. 11, Captain Scanlon of the Westminster Rifles and others and asked to fill the vacancy. I refused as I felt unfitted for this position. However, after pertinent inquiry accompanied by an attestation that if I did not accept the battery would be immediately disbanded I reluctantly consented.

Things were in pretty bad shape¹, but I found an enthusiastic and competent bunch of NCOs headed by Sergeants Davison and Corbett.² The drill shed was an old barn... where the Dominion fisheries Building now stands. Lieutenants A.F. Totton and E.H. Port were chosen as my officers and the non-commissioned officers appointed. Then recruiting commenced and the roll was soon filled.

² Sergeant W.J. Corbett was a renowned rifle shot and later became a Captain in the Regiment.

At my request Master Gunner J.C. Cornish was sent from Victoria to act as an instructor, and drill commenced at once. We had by way of motivation early morning drill as well as drills and instruction in the evenings, and it was not long before things looked pretty good. We instituted smoking concerts (free beer), sporting bouts, etc. to raise money for our company fund, and the City Council made a grant of $500 toward the purchase of band instruments and the citizens contributed the balance with the result that a complete set of instruments were in our possession and for good luck a noted band master was ready to take over the leadership - Mr. Watson was his name. We uniformed them and he did the rest. It came to have an international reputation and was much in demand on both sides of the line.

I then took a special course of instruction at the military school in Victoria and was granted a first-class grade A certificate and on the 2^{nd} day of July 1890 received my commission as captain.

The rifle range was then situated in South Westminster and was inconvenient (no bridge then) and dangerous. The provincial government at my request set aside a strip of land on the west side of Central Park, which was used as well by the Vancouver Rifles Association, until it became dangerous to settlers and had to be moved to Lulu Island.

New Westminster has many good shots and always brought home its full share of individual prizes in money and team prizes and trophies...The most coveted prize was the Laurie bugle, presented by Gen. Laurie for annual competition between companies – and it generally had its resting place in New Westminster. The rifle shooting of the Vancouver militiamen in the after days was ... and the annual meets at O'Hara and Wimbledon had always militiamen from the coast on its rolls, and Sergeant Perry of the 5th Regiment brought home the King's Prize in 1904.³

The old Drill shed was a trial and the subject of much complaining with E Mason. However, after pertinent wire pulling and perhaps here by the efforts of the late GE Courbould, MP (father of Lieutenant Colonel Courbould of the Westminster Regiment) an appropriation was made for a new drill shed in the year 1891. And the same was erected in due course and now is the comfortable centre of the New Westminster militia.

In the month of October, I was removed to Vancouver at the time the Land Registry Office was established there but I still retained my commission in New Westminster.

In those earlier days it was usual for Victoria to celebrate the 24th day of May and Vancouver the 1st of July and each city exchanged holiday making on their days. Perhaps one of the chief features of the festivities was the naval and military programme. Vancouver and its crowd poured into Victoria on the 24th of May (The Queen's birthday) and Beacon Hill was the scene of the naval and military parade and sham battle, etc. On the 1st of July (Canada's birthday) the ships of Her Majesty's north Pacific Squadron proudly rode at anchor in Burrard Inlet and excursion boats from Victoria and Nanaimo brought over nearly a majority of Vancouver island's population including its militia. New Westminster did the same – including No.1 Battery. At Brocton Point, after the review took place, occasionally a sham fight helped to entertain the crowd. Naval and military spirits were indulged in and a game of lacrosse of course was put up. The navy landed its cricket eleven and the local team met them in their great national game.

flag ship filled the air with sweet melodies and the elite of Vancouver turned out to brighten the function. In those days everybody was young, everybody was filled with the joy of living, and the future was a golden pathway to hopes fulfilled. Vancouver was a city of destiny and its only worry was growing pains. None but "old timers" as those dear people are now dubbed by their usurpers can quite realize what those gala days meant. Youth was in the saddle and nothing mattered.

About this time the young men of Vancouver began to itch for the uniform and a place in the procession. The press took it up and for a time there was quite a mix up. Some wanted infantry with red coats, others Rifles like the QOR and the kilties had a fascination for members of both sex. However the agitation came to an abrupt end by the prosaic militia department deciding to increase the establishment by adding another artillery battery to the Brigade of Garrison Artillery and by doubling the strength of said company to 80 men, 4 non-commissioned officers and 4 officers – the senior officer to hold the rank of major, and I was commissioned to raise the Vancouver company. The name of the regiment was changed to the 5th Regiment Canadian Artillery about this time.

The first thing to do was to find a building suitable for a drill shed. After much searching the old Imperial Opera House on Pender Street was the only one I could find at all suitable and the same was leased from the late Mr. Crickman its owner. At present this site is occupied by the Shelley Building, formerly the Duncan Building.

I then selected my senior officers, viz. CA Worsnop, Lacey R Johnston and FW Boultbee. Major Worsnop served in the Northwest Rebellion with the 90th Regiment and Boultbee with the Winnipeg Field Battery.

The service roll was soon filled up and the men sworn in and equipped. Drill was carried on steadily and No. 5 company was soon as smart a body of men as any in Canada and those are not my words, but they are of the inspecting officer at their first inspection. Then things began to move quickly. An interesting visit was made by General Dundonald (afterwards retired by Sir Wilfred Laurier) and I accompanied him to Victoria on his visit and inspection.

About this time Lieutenant Colonel Prior had been appointed to a cabinet portfolio in Ottawa – Minister of Inland Resources and therefore had to resign his connection with the militia – leaving me a senior major and as such entitled to my step up to his place. Things drifted along for a time, and I took the Command at the Victoria celebration on the 24th of May following the parade and subsequent sham battle with the navy at Beacon Hill. To meet the situation as it had arisen which meant the transfer of headquarters to Vancouver if I were promoted to the vacant command it was decided to convert the regiment into two battalions of equal strength. The 1st Battalion with headquarters at Victoria and the 2nd Battalion with headquarters at Vancouver. This change was carried out and Lieutenant Colonel Gregory (now Mr. Justice Gregory) was gazetted to the command of No.1 Battalion and myself to command of No.2 Battalion on the day (16 September 1896). And this was how Vancouver got a higher grade in the militia. I then proceeded to select my officer staff as follows:

Majors: Charles Worsnop⁴, AM Robertson, Surgeon-Major Captains: James F Gardner, Quartermaster; C Gardner Johnston, Paymaster Lieutenants: Lacey R Johnston, FW Boultbee, CC Bennet⁵, HC Akroyd, and John Boyd

Each of which officer ranked as provisional 2^{nd} Lieutenants until duly qualified by obtaining certificates from a school of instruction.

The next step was to get a school of instruction established. This was brought into existence by the appointment of Captain Barnes as officer in charge of the school and Sergeant-Major Porter and Corporal Bundy as instructors in artillery and infantry respectively. They were drawn from the Imperial forces in Victoria. The school was carried out in the temporary drill shed with the assistance of a gun shed erected on a CPR lot opposite to accommodate an antiquated 64 pound which saw service in the Crimea, and which now has a resting place in front of the drill shed on Beattie Street. The School was carried on for three months and was attended throughout by a large number in addition to the provisional officers. The results were satisfactory, and the officers were duly gazetted to their substantive ranks and the follow non-commissioned officers to their companies:

Battalion Sergeant-Major: JC Cornish

Sergeants: Napoleon LaBranche⁶, H.J Sharpe, and GA Boult⁷ Corporals: John Turner, JJ Hillier, J Duff Stuart⁸, and FW Alexander Bombardiers: E Crickinary, LA Martin, and JR Tite⁹

Recruiting a brass band was also signed up and furnished with uniforms and I carried on until 28 March 1897 when I felt unable through the increase of work in the land registry office to spare time for the many calls made upon me and resigned my command, recommending the late Lieutenant Colonel Worsnop as my successor.

Shortly afterward at the insistence of Major General Hutton, GOC, the battalion was converted from artillery into Rifles and is now known as the 6th Regiment of Rifles or Duke of Connaught's Own.

During the South African War in 1899 the regiment sent overseas 20 men to fight for the Empire and a brass tablet bearing the names of those who were killed in action was placed in the drill shed and I was instrumental as Mayor of the city of Vancouver in having the same unveiled by the Duke of Cornwall and York (now His Majesty King George V) on his way to the official luncheonto him and the Duchess his spouse and members of the Royal entourage by the citizens of Vancouver in the officer's mess.

Before retiring I arranged with the late Mr. Marpole for a site upon which to erect a Drill Hall as soon as the department were moved to build one. This arrangement was afterwards carried out – and the old imperial opera house knew us no more.

⁵ LCol CC Bennet, DSO, VD, was a popular and outspoken officer who later served in the 2nd South African War, securing a commission as captain in the South African Constabulary in 1901. He fought in several actions and was captured by the Boers during one harrowing incident. He remained in SA until 1907, returned to the regiment and then saw service overseas during the Great War, serving during the Vimy operation as a staff officer with 1st Can Div. His outstanding performance was recognized with a DSO and bar. Injured near Lens, after the battle of Hill 70 he was invalided home and medically released.

This is a brief outline of the planting of the militia in the city of Vancouver and what led up to it as weakly as my memory serves – the time which was followed by so rich a harvest when the great call from overseas a few years later – the black 4th day of August 1914.

God Save the King!

TO Townley Late Officer Commanding 2nd Battalion, 5th Regiment, Canadian Artillery

Strathcona Enews

Hello Strathconas,

The intent of this E-News is to provide a quick update on what your Regiment has been occupied with since the spring began. During the months of April and May, the bulk of the Regiment was in Wainwright conducting live-fire Combat Team and dry (with laser tag!) Battle Group training in a Brigade context. This training cycle is referred to as the Road to High Readiness and the culminating exercise is titled Maple Resolve. This year the exercise certified several units for deployment, including the Strathcona Battle Group which will deploy as the Operation Reassurance Rotation 13 HQ in Latvia starting January 2020.

The Regiment celebrated the change-of-appointment of our Regimental Sergeant-Major on June 14th to Chief Warrant Officer Kevin King and transitioned into Annual Posting Season turn-over and arrival of newly qualified soldiers. We received a total of 21 newly qualified troopers during the time period from June to August. We also welcomed back Major Matt Johns as the Regimental Second-in-Command, he will act as the Commanding Officer during the time period of roughly January to August 2020.

After our spring in Wainwright we focused on post-exercise drills to return all vehicles and equipment from Wainwright to Edmonton after Exercise Maple Resolve. We recommenced our maintenance surge on the Leopard 2 tanks and are making some real progress in improving the overall health of the fleet. During the bulk of the summer, your Regiment stood on guard to deploy for any domestic emergencies as the lead for the Immediate Response Unit, but thankfully were not called out. This year has been a significant improvement on that front, compared with two domestic deployments (first floods then fires) to British Columbia last year.

The end of June and beginning of July saw the deployment of many of your soldiers, including the teams for the training missions to both Lebanon and Jordan. We also deployed a Coyote Recce Troop to Latvia as part of Rotation 12 of that mission. These Strathconas were hand-picked for these missions and are "knocking it out of the park" and overcoming the myriad of challenges that come with overseas deployments. I ask that you keep both them and their families in your thoughts.

We dedicated time to maintain our strong ties and relationships in Calgary and participated in the Stampede, Calgary Association Branch Golf Tournament as well as the Spruce Meadows Queen Elizabeth Cup with a 100 soldier guard and Strathcona Ceremonial Mounted Troop. Immediately following the Regiment conducted summer block leave, as well as a myriad of summer tasks to support courses, the Indigenous programme Bold Eagle, etc.

The Regiment is mostly back at work now and has begun the Primary Combat Function (tank/Coyote/Tactical Armoured Patrol Vehicle gunners/drivers etc.) training cycle to qualify new soldiers, for career advancement and to meet qualification requirements for Operation Reassurance. We also celebrated a very successful Regimental Family Day last weekend which provided the soldiers and officers the opportunity to showcase the strength and dedication of the Regiment to their families.

Finally, in conjunction with our generous benefactors at Canadian Pacific Railway, three scholarships have been awarded to Strathcona family members this year. The winners of this year's scholarships are Ms. Megha Madan, Ms. Claire Hunter and Ms. Deanna Anderson-Hay.

Your Regiment is well prepared to move into the fall training cycle and to support preparations for the Battle Group deployment in January 2020. We remain busy and operational tempo is high, but rest assured, your soldiers continue to bring honour and reputation to the Regiment through their hard work and perseverance.

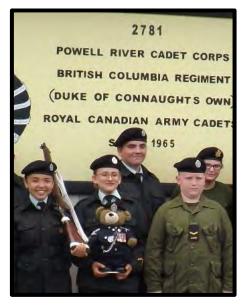

Perseverance,

LCol Eric Angell CO LdSH(RC) CWO Kevin King RSM LdSH(RC)
